

The World History Center at the University of Pittsburgh presents

SOUTH ASIA IN WORLD HISTORY: WORLD HISTORY TEACHING IN INDIA

A LECTURE BY

RILA MUKHERJEE

University of Hyderabad, India

Monday, October 10, 2016

3702 Wesley W. Posvar Hall

Department of History Lounge

4:30–6 p.m.

About the Speaker

Rila Mukherjee is professor of history at the University of Hyderabad, India. She is the editor of Pelagic Passageways: The Northern Bay of Bengal Before Colonialism (Primus Books, 2011), a collection of essays locating Bengal's place in the extended eastern Indian Ocean world. Her most recent publication is a co-edited volume, Rethinking Connectivity: Region, Place and Space in Asia (Primus Books, 2016). Her research interests focus on human-natural hazard interventions in history and the cartographic conundrums of the Bengal delta.

For more information, visit worldhistory.pitt.edu.